The Collect

Almighty God, who through your only-begotten Son Jesus Christ overcame death and opened to us the gate of everlasting life: Grant that we, who celebrate with joy the day of the Lord's resurrection, may be raised from the death of sin by your life-giving Spirit; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen.

The First Lesson: Acts 10:34-43

Note: The season of Easter traditionally includes a reading from the Acts of the Apostles each Sunday. Peter's speech is a thumbnail sketch of the meaning of Jesus and how that meaning informs our life after the resurrection. What short answer would you have if somebody were to ask you about the meaning of Jesus in your life?

Peter began to speak to Cornelius and the other Gentiles: "I truly understand that God shows no partiality, but in every nation anyone who fears him and does what is right is acceptable to him. You know the message he sent to the people of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ--he is Lord of all. That message spread throughout Judea, beginning in Galilee after the baptism that John announced: how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power; how he went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with him. We are witnesses to all that he did both in Judea and in Jerusalem. They put him to death by hanging him on a tree; but God raised him on the third day and allowed him to appear, not to all the people but to us who were chosen by God as witnesses, and who ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead. He commanded us to preach to the people and to testify that he is the one ordained by God as judge of the living and the dead. All the prophets testify about him that everyone who believes in him receives forgiveness of sins through his name."

The Psalm: 118:1-2, 14-24 Confitemini Domino

Note: This is a psalm of the victory of God. The resurrection is a sign of this victory, that, against all odds, God has triumphed in Jesus Christ. This is more than a fact; it is the posture of the human heart. To believe in the triumph of God is to see the world differently, to see ourselves differently. It is live in defiant hope in the world.

1 Give thanks to the Lord, for he is good; * his mercy endures for ever.

2 Let Israel now proclaim, *

"His mercy endures for ever."

14 The Lord is my strength and my song, and he has become my salvation.

15 There is a sound of exultation and victory * in the tents of the righteous:

16 "The right hand of the Lord has triumphed! * the right hand of the Lord is exalted! the right hand of the Lord has triumphed!"

17 I shall not die, but live, *

and declare the works of the Lord.

18 The Lord has punished me sorely, * but he did not hand me over to death.

19 Open for me the gates of righteousness; * I will enter them:

I will offer thanks to the Lord. 20 "This is the gate of the Lord;"

he who is righteous may enter."

21 I will give thanks to you, for you answered me * and have become my salvation.

22 The same stone which the builders rejected * as become the chief cornerstone.

23 This is the Lord's doing, * and it is marvelous in our eyes.

24 On this day the Lord has acted; ' we will rejoice and be glad in it.

The Epistle: 1 Corinthians 15:19-26

Note: The world is in a state of disorder, contrary to the intentions of the Creator. Christ comes to put things in proper order and, Paul tells us, his resurrection is the beginning of a new phase in this reordering. Until Christ returns in glory we are a people of the resurrection, laborers with Christ in the remaking of the world, in large ways and small ways, knowing and believing that every gospel act of love advances the work of the kingdom to its final goal of perfection.

If for this life only we have hoped in Christ, we are of all people most to be pitied.

But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead, the first fruits of those who have died. For since death came through a human being, the resurrection of the dead has also come through a human being; for as all die in Adam, so all will be made alive in Christ. But each in his own order: Christ the first fruits, then at his coming those who belong to Christ. Then comes the end, when he hands over the kingdom to God the Father, after he has destroyed every ruler and every authority and power. For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet. The last enemy to be destroyed is death.

Sequence Hymn standing Alleluia, Alleluia Hymnal 178

The Gospel: John 20:1-18

The Homily

Note: The resurrection is the climactic point of all four gospels. Each has their own way of telling the story. All of them involve women as the first to experience the risen Christ. The women become the first evangelists, which was the last thing on their mind as they went to the tomb that morning. But God surprised them, and their lives were changed. How has God surprised you?

A New Start

The resurrection of Jesus Christ means a new start. After Good Friday this seemed unlikely. Hopes had been raised. The disciples had good reason to believe that the world would change, just as they had changed. Then, suddenly, those hopes were dashed.

Hope was dashed suddenly, but not inexplicably. Jesus' life was a constant tension between works of love and growing opposition. He was a dangerous man because he sought more than the world was ready to give him. His death seemed an all too natural consequence of his actions and teachings to a world obstinate to cling on to its own self-destructive behavior.

Easter tells us we have another chance. It also tells us that we are worth it. despite the evidence of Good Friday. More, we are invited to learn, was resurrected that day than one human being. Our hope was raised.

Hope, it cannot be said too often, is not the same as optimism. We are not merely optimistic because of the resurrection. That would simply mean we expect better according to our experience. Hope, on the other hand, goes far beyond our experience and enters the providence of God. In the resurrection we are invited to see the hand of God doing things beyond our experience or imagination.

What new start is God drawing you toward? You might find yourself as surprised as the disciples.
